Where in the World is Barnaby Bear?

You will need: 1 game board (A3), a passport and set of passport stamps for each player, dice or spinner, coloured counters, junior atlases (optional).

Instructions: Players move around the board. If they land on a map they can add it to their passport (optional extension: find information in an atlas about the place visited). Each destination has a small landmark picture for additional discussion. There are also hazards placed around the board and different modes of transport. Winner is the player with most stamps at the end of the game but the game is really an opportunity to discuss geography in an informal setting.
